 Ω Due to the avian influenza A(H7N9) incident in January 2014, importation of live poultry to Hong Kong from the Mainland and inspections of Mainland registered farms were suspended. The importation of live poultry and arrangements for visits to Mainland registered farms were resumed in September 2014. ϵ Inspection to registered farms supplying food animals to Hong Kong serves as an audit check of the E Inspection to registered farms supplying food animals to Hong Kong serves as an audit check of the registered farm system administered by the General Administration of Quality Supervision, Inspection and Quarantine. As such, the arrangement, including the number of farms involved, is subject to the agreement of the relevant Mainland authority taking into account the corresponding risk assessments and actual circumstances. In fact, the total number of registered farms exporting food animals to Hong Kong has shown a decreasing trend in recent years. These factors contribute to the variation of the actual and planned number of farms involved in the inspection exercises over the years.

- η Import of live poultry from the Mainland was temporarily suspended as from 28 January 2014 due to the detection of a H7 AI positive consignment of imported poultry. The import was resumed on 4 September 2014.
- § This indicator replaces the indicator "blood samples taken from poultry for testing of AI H5 antibodies". To strengthen early warning against AI infection in imported live poultry, the Government has since April 2013 introduced the Polymerase Chain Reaction tests for H7 AI, and since January 2014 introduced the H7 serological tests on top of the existing tests for H5 AI. Each sample collected might be used for both the H5 and H7 tests. Therefore, the number of samples collected does not directly translate into the number of tests conducted. The decrease in the total actual number of samples collected in 2014 was due to the suspension of live poultry supply from the Mainland between late January and early September 2014. The number of samples to be collected in 2015 is estimated according to the sample collection plan devised on a risk-based assessment.
- ^ In addition to the 64 387 and 64 219 food samples taken for testing in 2013 and 2014 respectively, another 56 382 samples and 61 459 samples have been taken from imported Japanese food for examination of radiation level in 2013 and 2014 respectively in connection with the Japan nuclear power plant incident in March 2011.

Matters Requiring Special Attention in 2015-16

- 5 During 2015–16, the Department will:
- continue to enforce the Pesticide Residues in Food Regulation (Cap. 132CM) which came into operation in August 2014;
- assist Food and Health Bureau (FHB) in following up the public consultation on regulation of nutrition claims and health claims for formula products and prepackaged food for infants and young children under the age of 36 months;
- assist FHB in conducting public consultation on regulation of safety of edible oils and the recycling of waste cooking oil;
- assist FHB in conducting public consultation on regulation of cooked meat;
- implement the Imported Game, Meat and Poultry (Amendment) Regulation 2015 scheduled to be tabled at the Legislative Council to impose import control over poultry eggs;
- prepare for the implementation of the Food and Drugs (Composition and Labelling) (Amendment) (No. 2) Regulation 2014;
- continue to assist FHB in refining the details of the proposed regulatory framework governing veterinary drug residues in food with reference to the Pesticide Residues in Food Regulation;

- review the regulatory framework for governing metallic contamination in food;
- conduct a comprehensive review of the food safety-related penalties under the Public Health and Municipal Services Ordinance (Cap. 132) and its subsidiary legislation, as well as the Food Safety Ordinance (Cap. 612);
 and
- start planning the second Hong Kong Food Consumption Survey to obtain up-to-date food consumption information among individuals in Hong Kong.

The figures represent unit expenditure for the respective financial years ending 31 March. The decrease in the number of raids (i.e. surveillance checks) is due to a reduction in the number of suspected illegal slaughterhouses in 2014 and an expected further reduction of suspected illegal slaughterhouses in 2015.

The decrease in the number of prosecutions against food premises and in the number of food business licences suspended/cancelled was attributable to the decrease in the number of cases of illegal extension of food business area by food premises in 2014.

Matters Requiring Special Attention in 2015–16

- 9 During 2015–16, the Department will:
- continue to take stringent enforcement actions against unlicensed food premises and food premises which pose immediate health hazards or with illegal extension of food business area,
- assist FHB in following up the implementation of measures to enhance the liquor licensing regime,
- · continue to take forward plans and projects to provide more crematorium and columbarium facilities, and

Analysis of Financial and Staffing Provision

Programme (1)

Provision for 2015–16 is $15.2 million (1.5%) higher than the revised estimate for 2014–15. This is mainly due to filling of vacancies, creation of new posts and increased operating expenses for food safety and public health services. There will be an increase of three posts.

Programme (2)

Provision for 2015–16 is $106.6 million (3.5%) higher than the revised estimate for 2014–15. This is mainly due to filling of vacancies, as well as increased operating and capital expenses for environmental hygiene and related services. There will be a net decrease of 39 posts.

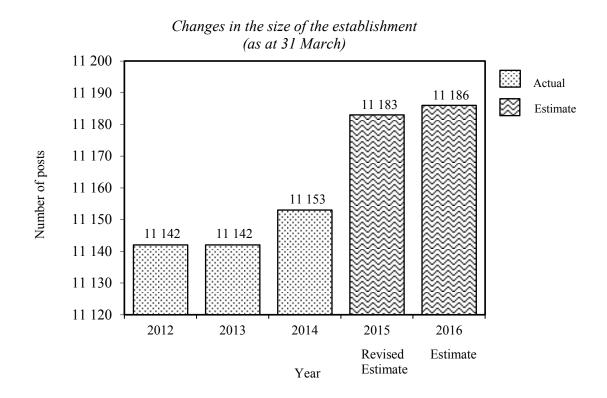

Programme (3)

Provision for 2015–16 is $5.1 million (0.3%) higher than the revised estimate for 2014–15. This is mainly due to the increased expenses for enhancing enforcement against shop front extensions, partly offset by decreased capital expenditure for market management. There will be an increase of 39 posts.

Programme (4)

Provision for 2015–16 is $2.1 million (8.0%) higher than the revised estimate for 2014–15. This is mainly due to salary increment as well as increased operating expenses for public education and community involvement activities.
